MENTAL HYGIENE CLINICS FOR VETERANS

Mental hygiene clinics of Veterans Administration are keeping an average of 2,200 mentally sick veterans out of hospitals every year.

VA said a great number of these veterans are engaged in useful, productive work while receiving treatment and generally improve sufficiently to end their outpatient treatments.

The cost of treating these 2,200 in mental hygiene clinics an average of once a week for one year is roughly $1,000,000. The cost of treating the same number of patients in a neuropsychiatric hospital is about $5,000,000 per year.

VA therefore estimates that about $4,000,000 a year is saved in preventing hospitalization.

Only veterans with service - connected neuroses or psychoses may be treated in VA's mental hygiene clinics. The law does not permit the treatment of nonservice - connected cases on an outpatient basis.

VA is operating 62 mental hygiene clinics throughout the country. Of these, 39 are in regional offices, 14 are in hospitals, and nine are in smaller VA offices. VA also operates one traveling clinic.

In addition, VA uses the services of 46 contract clinics, most of them state or community agencies.

In a recent month, some 26,000 veterans received 56,000 treatments in VA and contract clinics, with VA clinics furnishing two-thirds of the treatments.

About one-fourth of the patients come to VA clinics on their own. Another 25 per cent are referred by other medical divisions of VA's regional offices. Approximately one-eighth are referred by VA contact representatives and the remainder come from other sources, including community clinics, social agencies, and the like.

VA's mental hygience clinics form the largest network of such outpatient clinics under one management in the country. As such, they have become a place-maker in outpatient psychiatry.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Not only is cottage cheese a boon to the dieters, but it is a year-round favorite. These recipes are simple to make as well as delicious dishes for the family.

Cheese Blintzes

2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
1 cup sifted flour
Oil
½ pound cottage cheese
2 tablespoons butter
Sour cream

Beat 1 egg light, add salt, water and flour. Beat until smooth. Heat a small frying pan and grease well with oil. Pour 2 tablespoons of batter and cook over low heat on one side only. Spread a clean white cloth on table and remove each pancake to the cloth with uncooked side up. Cool. Make a filling of remaining egg, cottage cheese, and butter. Spread a little on each pancake and roll, tucking in edges to retain the filling. Saute in hot oil and serve with sour cream.

Cottage Cheese Loaf

2 cups cooked lima beans drained thoroughly
1½ pounds cottage cheese
1 small can pimientos
1 cup bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can condensed tomato soup.

Put beans, cottage cheese and pimientos through a meat grinder, using coarse blade. Mix well. Add bread crumbs and seasonings. Form into a roll. Bake in a slightly greased pan, uncovered, in an oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes. Heat tomato soup and pour over the loaf. Bake 10 minutes longer. Slice and serve with tomato sauce.

Cottage Cheese Omelet

4 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup milk
3/4 cup cottage cheese
3 tablespoons chopped canned pimientos
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Beat egg yolks until thick. Add salt, pepper, milk, cheese and pimientos. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Place butter in omelet pan, heat well and add egg mixture. Cook slowly until firm and brown on bottom. Bake in an oven (350 degrees) 10 to 15 minutes, until browned on top. Slip onto a hot platter, garnish with parsley.

Cottage Cheese Pancakes

1 cup cottage cheese, sieved
3 eggs, well beaten
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup flour, sifted
1/4 teaspoon salt
Tart jelly.

Combine cheese, eggs, butter, flour and salt. Heat griddle, over moderate heat. Most griddles need no greasing, but if necessary, grease it. Pour 1/4 cup of batter on the griddle and cook, turning when underside is nicely browned. Spread with any tart jelly, roll up and sprinkle with confectioners sugar. Serve as dessert.

Cottage Cheese Salad

2 cups cottage cheese
½ cup sour cream
1/4 cup chopped chives
½ cup cucumber diced
1 tablespoon chopped watercress
Salt and pepper
Lettuce.

Mix cottage cheese and sour cream lightly with a fork. Add the olives, cucumber, season with a few grains of salt and pepper. Shape into mounds. Place on lettuce leaves, garnish with watercress and serve very cold.

Cottage Cheese Sandwich Loaf

1 loaf unsliced bread
Cottage cheese
Salt and pepper
Scraped onion
Chopped celery
Chopped green pepper
Chopped pecans
Mayonnaise
Slices of green pepper
Cole slaw with pineapple added.

Cut the bread into 3 slices lengthways. On the bottom slice spread generously with a mixture of cottage cheese, seasoned with salt and pepper and scraped onion, moistened with mayonnaise. Place the slice of cottage cheese, chopped pecans, and green pepper, moistened with mayonnaise. Cover with slice of bread. Spread with mayonnaise moistened cottage cheese, garnished with green pepper and halves of pecans, and slices of green pepper. Serve with the slaw.

WOODSON - HOLT

. . . Mrs. Wm. Carter Woodson

The marriage of Miss Jane Carolyn Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Garland Holt, to William Carter Woodson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Woodson, all of Appomattox, took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Memorial Methodist Church, Appomattox. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lee Richcreek. Miss Easley Shuford, cousin of the bride, provided the music for the occasion.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of ice blue organza over taffeta with matching cluster. She carried a prayer book, centered with a white orchid.

Miss June Holt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore pink organdie over taffeta with matching hat and mitts, and carried a nosegay of pink rose buds and summer asters. Robert Holt, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Maymond L. Mitchell was best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was given in the church recreation room, the color scheme of pale green, silver and white being carried out. Greens, Gladioli, Astors and candles were used in both the church and recreation room for decoration.

After the reception the couple left for a Southern wedding trip. The bride traveled in a navy blue summer suit with white accessories.

WRONG SITE

Grand Rapids, Mich.- Owners of the Cascade Pharmacy are beginning to believe they selected an untenable site for their drugstore. It is at the top of a "T" formed by U. S. highway 16 and the Grand Rapids By-pass, about 10 miles southeast of Grand Rapids. Three cars have smashed into it in one year and each time there was about $5,000 damage to the store. In the first accident, a customer was killed.

The Agriculture Department reported that farmers' income dropped 4 per cent in the first half of 1955.

Church Course Is Offered

Four courses linked with the total program of the church and world missionary needs will be taught at the annual School of Missions and Christian Service to be conducted by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Virginia Methodist Conference at Randolph-Macon Woman's College Aug. 29 to Sept. 2.

Mrs. J. Boyd Tyrrell, of Roanoke, Conference secretary of missionary education and service, is chairman of the Planning Committee; Mrs. R. G. Pullen, of Lawrenceville will act as dean and Mrs. Bennett Taylor, of Farmville will serve as registrar.

Registration for the courses of study should be made as soon as possible with the registrar, Mrs. Taylor.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR WATERFORD FAIR

The twelfth annual Waterford Fair, an exhibit of the works of artists and craftsmen of Loudoun County, Virginia, will be held on October 7, 8 and 9, it is announced by C. A. R. Lindquist, chairman of the board of directors of the Waterford Foundation, Inc. The foundation, a non-profit institution, was established in 1944 to preserve and encourage arts and handicrafts in Waterford and surrounding Loudoun County.

In keeping with previous years, there will be exhibits of weaving, rug-hooking, pottery-making, lamp-making, iron-mongering and other arts, skills and products. Products will be on sale to the public.

In addition to these exhibits there will be an antique show, visits to the old Friends Meeting House, tours of the outstanding colonial homes of the town, and other special attractions.

In announcing the plans for this year's Fair, Mr. Lindquist said:

"The steady growth of interest and attendance at the Waterford Fair has made this event a public institution in this part of the world. It attests to the continuing public interest in the quality and individuality of handcraft production. This year's exhibit will preserve the traditional character of previous Fairs, but we are planning several innovations which will make this year's event even more colorful and interesting than in the past.'

Waterford is an old mill town situated three miles off Virginia Route 9, six miles from Leesburg. It was founded by Quakers in the early eighteenth century and the first house is believed to have been built in 1733. Its location off the beaten path has kept the community insulated from the major changes that have affected similar towns during the past century and Waterford has remained largely unchanged for the past 200 years. The flour mill, the Friends Meeting House, the weaver's cottage, the town jail, and many of the earliest homes have been preserved or restored to much of their original form.
